DISTRICT OF VERMONT

v.)	Docket No. 2:18-cr-49
)
ANGELO PETER EFTHIMIATOS,) Defendant.)

OPPOSITION TO MOTION FOR RECONSIDERATION OF DETENTION

NOW COMES the United States of America, by and through its attorney, Christina E. Nolan, United States Attorney for the District of Vermont, and moves in opposition to defendant's motion for reconsideration of the order of pretrial detention.

As the government argued in its initial motion for detention, the Court should detain Efthimiatos because there are no conditions of release which will assure the Court of his appearance. While Efthimiatos now argues his family responsibilities will anchor him in the district and ensure his appearance at future hearings, these same family issues existed well in advance of his detention in this case. At the time of the charged offense, defendant was on supervised release, with conditions specifically limiting his travel to within the state of Vermont. He was, in fact, visited by his supervising pretrial services officer only hours after his charged flight. Nevertheless, despite his conditions, the attention of pretrial services and the needs of both his wife and child, Efthimiatos left the district, flying from Vermont to Massachusetts and back without notice to pretrial or permission of the Court. He has demonstrated that there are no conditions which he will obey or which will ensure his presence in the district and his appearance at future proceedings. He should remain detained.

Dated at Burlington, Vermont, this 30th day of July, 2018.
